THE TRIUMPH OF FOLLY

What's the best cure for the mid-winter, mid-term, cold-weather, cabin-fever blues? Why, Faculty Follies, of course—the all-star assembly in which PEA instructors share their heretofore-unsuspected talents as singers, dancers and all-around good sports. Directed by history instructor Amy Schwartz, this year's edition featured live acts (including a girl group composed of senior female faculty members, and a male dance troupe performing their homage to Janet Jackson) and Exeter's first brush with reality television: a rare, behind-the-scenes look at what really goes on in the Dean's Office. Did you know Exeter has a Dean of Unfortunate Events?

A (A) Emcee Rich Aaronian warms up the crowd. "How ya doin'?"

B (B) Side Street Boys Pat Leslie '97 and Eric Aaronian '94 dance up a storm.

(C) Brad Robinson and Jim DiCarlo perform their Curriculum Review Time Study Symphony.

(D) These girls just wanna have fun: Barbara Eggers, Susan Herney, Joyce Kemp, Betsey Farnham and Jackie Thomas rocked the house with their version of the Cyndi Lauper hit.

Roll over, Walt Disney: The modern language department (including Fermin Perez-Andreu, E, and Kayoko Tazawa, F) presents a multilingual version of "Beauty and the Beast," with a little help from their friends, including Chandra Glick '96 and John Kane (G).
